Negatives third person

The theory

The perfect present in negative is formed by adding not a have (or has if it is the third person singular). The vast majority of the time we contract the negations when speaking, so it is like this:

Third
Person

He
She
It

Jaime doesn't have to wash his car on Saturday

Maria doesn't have to go to the market every day

It's not raining, you don't have to take an umbrella

My dog doesn't have to eat today

She doesn't have to buy new clothes, she has many new dresses

He doesn't have to catch the bus in the morning.
