My name is Yaquelin, my plan for that week is that I am going to a very nice pool that is located on the outskirts of the city, I would like to go with her, but she says that she is going to the movies with her parents, that's why she won't go with me, but someday I would like to go to this pool with her and have a good time. Today in the morning the first thing I will do is prepare my things to go and enjoy and tomorrow night I will be watching movies with my cousins, this will be my plan for this month, something very sad since my best friend will not be with me for power enjoy this. The same thing happened to me as last summer, she promised to go with me and she never did, she went with her friends the next morning and she never warned me
