

English test on the importance in nursing.

English IV
FECHA
OSCAR DAMIAN GUTIERREZ.

INTRODUCTION.

The English it's essential to know it because there are many instruments, books, written in English. In this text it's been spoken about the importance of English in nursing.

THE ENGLISH IN THE NURSING.

The importance of English in nursing. English is an idiom well known and spoken on the world, is the idiom with more words known for the people. English is very important because so many investigations and articles are written in English because the USA is a country where the people talk English. The USA is a country more advanced in other words is a world power it's here of from coming the things including the Scientifics, investigators and organizations that made studies about of medicine, science and things related with physical, chemistry, robotics and technology.

Nursing it's a discipline to provide care to patients that they need and the administration of medications too, but is a discipline that needs methods, theories, Scientifics fundamentals and medical equipment too and almost all the time those means Scientifics it's come of United States and usually it's written in English. These situations make it fundamental to know the idiom for can manipulate the medical equipment.

There are books written in English too in that moment the nurse need can read it.

CONCLUSION.

In this document we try to explain the importance of English in this discipline.