It is characterized by having an "s" at the end, an exception of the possessive pronoun in the first person singular "mine".

Example

They are usually located at the end of the sentence

1. That red jacket over there, that's mine.
2. This is my room and that one is yours.
3. Can you lend me a pencil? - I forgot mine.
4. I play tennis with a friend of mine.
5. Is this book yours?
6. I lent Bob my car and he lent me his
7. I forgot my book, so Susan gave me hers.
8. Mary went to the theater with a friend of hers.

In this other way, possession can be determined, either of an object, an attribute or a physical, mental, emotional characteristic, etc.

Example

Since it is an adjective in this case, it must always be placed before the noun, in the sentence

- This is his book. Yours is on the other table.
- This pianist is amazing! Let me show you her new single.
- I'm worried about my studies.
