SOFIA HERRAN SILVA

I was born in Tuxtla Gutierrez, Chiapas. All my life I have lived here. Tuxtla Gutiérrez is a Mexican city and municipality, capital and largest urban nucleus of the state of Chiapas. The average annual temperature is 25.4 ° C. The warm season lasts from mid-February to September. The hottest period of the year is from April to the second week of May, where temperatures are around 40 ° C. The cool season lasts from the second week of November to mid-February. The coldest period of the year is the month of December when the temperature can drop to 8 ° C. The normal rainy season runs from May to the second week of October. Normally the rainiest months are June and September. Every year in the city the Casa Chiapas Fashion Show is held, which exhibits the fashionable outfits that combine the traditions of typical costumes with the high fashion trends in the world. It should be noted that Tuxtla Gutiérrez is the distribution center for these costumes in Mexico and in the world; besides being Casa Chiapas very visited by national and foreign tourists and even locals and citizens. Tuxtla Gutiérrez is the center of the political, commercial and economic activities of the State. Due to its unique beauty and historical importance, the Chiapas icon was nominated to be one of the "7 New Natural Wonders", being the only representative of Mexico in this international contest.
