The Importance of English in My Career

Studying the English language is very important to us, not only in the nursing career, but in all of them is very important because it also helps us differentiate ourselves, my three possibilities increase. If we have more than one language in our curriculum, it will bring us multiple labor advantages, of all languages English has become is one of the indispensable languages for almost any job, because if you want to work in other countries you do not have any problems since it is one of the first demands knowledge of this language, I have read and English is the second most important language and more using , many students must know, in case anyone decides to go to work such as to the United States, have the opportunity to work in any hospital, also sometimes we have to read books, articles or something else we have no problem if we know the language.
