Continuous Present

The present continuous generally refers to situations or actions that are taking place at the moment and, as in Spanish, learning this tense is essential to have fluency and expression in any conversation in English.

- You are studying English.
- They are going to the zoo next Saturday
- She is working a lot lately
- Today is snowing, but yesterday was sunny
- We are building a house
- Peter is leaving outside
- I am watching TV right now
- She is playing volleyball this afternoon
- She is crying because she is angry.
- He is walking the dog

PROGRESSIVE PRESENT

present affirmative

The present simple affirmative is formed with the infinitive of the verb without "to". In the 3rd person singular (he, she, it) a final -s is added to the verb.

- My brother is singing a new song.
- The teacher went to the zoo yesterday.
- You should go to the dentist.
- I will go to Manhattan next week.
- She is going to visit her parents a couple of weeks.
- I am reading a new book about Africa.
- I am a student.
- You are my friend.
- She is pretty.
- We are good people.
