

Hello, my name is Alejandra Borrallas Torres, I am a university student who is studying nursing, I am a very pretty girl both inside and out, I really like being with my family, I also really like sports, what I don't like is that they die on me indifferent or that they try to intimidate me I also don't like when they say things to me when I'm angry I'm thin but I'm also short haha I really like to eat, it's hard for me to express myself or go on to present and when I study for my exam I forget everything.

