

Nombre: The lion and the mouse.

Oraciones en futuro continuo.

- Spare me! Please let me go and someday I will surely repay you - begged the poor mouse.

Oraciones en pasado continuo.

No hay.

Personajes.

- The lion.

- The mouse.

Summary.

The story is about a lion and mouse. One day the little mouse was running and collided with the lion, but the lion was asleep, but when he felt that something collided with him he woke up and then he saw the little mouse trembling with fear and begging to let him go the mouse promised the lion that he would help him when he was in danger if he let him go the lion thought the idea was funny because the mouse was a small being and it would be absurd that a small mouse would help him but nevertheless he let him go, but one day the lion was chasing a prey and fall into trap of a hunter then the mouse come to help the lion to get out of the trap and broke all the ropes and the lion could escape then told the lion that he had laughed at him when he told him that if he was in danger he would help him. This story leaves us a moral that says that we should not doubt the power that can have every being and we should be grateful.

Introducción.

The story begins when a mouse was running and collided with the lion.

Climax.

The lion was chasing prey and got caught a hunter's trap.

The end.

The mouse helps to the lion to get out of the trap.