

ALUMNO: JOSÉ ERNESTO REYNA GONZÁLEZ

DOCENTE: ING. EDUARDO E. ARREOLA JIMENEZ

ASIGNATURA: INGLÉS I

GRADO: 1er GRADO GRUPO B

ACTIVIDAD: MAPA CONCEPTUAL "IMPORTANCE OF MEDICINE VETERINARY"

IMPORTANCE OF MEDICINE VETERINARY

VETERINARY MEDICINE

Prevention, control, diagnosis, and treatment of animal diseases.

HISTORY OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

- Prehistory — Hunting and domestication
- Greece — Horse doctors established
- Egypt — Veterinary was established as a specialty
- Rome — Post service
- Aztecs — Domestication of the turkey

APPLICATION

- Environment
 - Drinking water — Prevention of animal Access for contamination
 - Emerging infectious zoonoses — Ecosystems, bioterrorism, agroterrorism
- Basic and clinical sciences programs
 - New tecnologies — Development of novel instruments
 - Treatment of diseases — Echocardiography, endoscopy, ultrasound, tomography
- Pharmaceuticals
 - Safety testing
 - Clinical evaluation of drugs
 - Development of antibiotics and vaccines

PHASES OF VETERINARY TRAINING

- 1st Phase — Study of the classroom and laboratory pre-clinical sciences — Anatomy, physiology, pathology, pharmacology, toxicology, nutrition, microbiology, public health
- 2nd Phase — Clinical sciences and study of infectious and non-infectious diseases — Radiology, anesthesiology, surgery and practice management, clinical experience

INFLUENCE

- Economy
 - Production and sale of animal food
 - Production of articles and foods of animal origin
 - Drug sales
- Public health — Control of animal diseases contagious to humanity

BIBLIOGRAFÍA

- Reading “Importance of medicine veterinary”, Arreola Jiménez, Eduardo Enrique. Universidad del Sureste. 2023
- Anatomía Comparativa y Necropsias, Presentación. Arreola Rodríguez, Ety Josefina. Universidad del Sureste, 2023