I live in the Nuevo Amatenango neighborhood, municipality of Amatenango, on the Chiapas border. Currently with more than two thousand inhabitants it is characterized by being a very united and beautiful town with a very dense vegetation having a river that crosses the town, two springs of crystal clear water for the population again Amatenango.es a town that has traditions and customs such as the Day of the Dead, Christmas, Easter, and parades and at the same time it still has its values such as respect Christmas, Easter, and parades and at a time continues to have its values such as respect.

So well we don't have a Telcel signal, so well there is no hospital that provides services 24 hours a day. We have a shelter where the students of the communities stay there for the rest of the week, we also have a welfare bank, we have a gas station, we have a water purifier service.
