My town is ugly and poor, they say that it is already a city but only because of the population, since there are practically no things that make it look like a city, there are many potholes, there is a church in the center in front of the park, the taxis are right there In the market you find many things like vegetables, fruits and other things to eat, the power goes out very often, people are very gossipy, in Comalapa there are not many nice things, only me, there are many cantinas and many drunks on the street, many dogs in the streets, there are armed groups fighting for Comalapa and there is a group called corn, an ugly name for my taste, the truth is there is not much to talk about Comalapa, the current situation is sad, before it was said that it was a beautiful town with a lot of commerce, the first pharmacy in Comalapa was my grandparents', it's called the poor people's pharmacy, on one side is my uncle Rafael's veterinarian and about a few meters higher is my uncle Quique's store, which What I like most about my town is my ranch since it is a little far from people and noise, there is not much to talk about about Comalapa since there are only more negative things than positive, in short this is Comalapa
