“What a general nurse does”

A nurse can work in multiple areas, performing different activities, which depends on the job she is in and her experience, but the main functions she must master are: perform the patient's general check-up: temperature measurement, blood pressure measurement, weight and height check and even the person's registration, check insulin levels, do healing and bandages, Apply the medications prescribed by the doctor.

Values and skills a nurse general should have

Nurses are heroes who ensure the rapid recovery of patients, so they must assist all types and classes of patients, where sometimes their help is needed psychologically, even if they do not have such a skill, a nurse may be supporting in general medicine, pediatrics, surgeries, x-rays, etc, because it is so important it becomes necessary everywhere

Constantly evaluating patients

When a nurse general notices that a patient's condition does not improve after starting a specific treatment or therapy, she should communicate her evaluation to the patient's physician and recommend viable changes to the care plan. Consequently, the doctor may change the planned health care program based on feedback from the nurse general

Maintain and update medical records or record, patient records are essential for proper medical care, thorough and clear records enable healthcare professionals to provide superior quality care, likewise, they help the changing of nursing staff shifts to be carried out without setbacks and without harming the patient, every time a general nurse examines a patient, checks their mood and physical status, administers medications, or helps them with basic hygiene tasks, they must record these activities thoroughly, this is vital, since the patient's history is often the key to identifying the most appropriate treatment and intolerances that could harm the patient's health
