In the middle of the lush forest, a cozy house is taking shape. Outside, there's a lovely porch adorned with pots brimming with colorful flowers. As we enter, there is a solid wood door that opens into a spacious foyer. Here, the foundations are being laid for a cosy living room with a rustic fireplace that is being decorated with finishing touches. In the kitchen, workers install an elegant center island while furniture is being assembled along the walls. In the living room, There is comfortable sofas and there are a wooden coffee table are being placed. In the master bedroom, curtains are being put up and a king-size bed is being assembled. In addition, there are two more bedrooms, each with its own bathroom. Outside, a garden with meandering paths and an entertainment area with a terrace and swimming pool are being built. The house, surrounded by majestic trees, is gradually taking shape, becoming a haven of tranquility in the middle of nature.
