• One day there was a bald boy enjoying a nice day in the park, with a lake and a beautiful duck, when suddenly a tall man approached him and offered him a photo session. The little one accepted

• The man prepared his bed and began the session, he focused on the boy with the lake and a duck in the background, he set the countdown to take a photo with him and he runs away, but there isn't a stone! The man trips and falls and the camera takes the photo. The hairless boy says there is no sir, his nail appears on the postcard.
