Once upon a time, in a small village, the famous writer, John, lived in a cozy house by the river. One day, while he was working on his new novel, he realized that his favorite book, "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes", had disappeared.

"I'm going to look for it," John said to himself. "It's my favorite book, and I need it."

John searched in his study, on the shelves, and under his desk, but couldn't find it. "Where is it?" he wondered.

He asked his wife, Emily, "Have you seen my book?" She replied, "No, I haven't seen it. Maybe it's in the library."

John went to the library, which was located across from the town hall. At the entrance, he met his friend, Sarah, who was reading a book on a bench.

"Hi, John! What brings you here?" Sarah asked.

"I'm looking for my lost book," John replied.

Sarah suggested, "Let's look in the fiction section." After searching between the shelves, they finally found the book on the top shelf.

"Ah, there it is!" John exclaimed. "Thank you, Sarah. You're a great friend."

John returned home, happy to have his book back. From then on, he kept it safe in his study, next to his writing desk
