"THIS IS ME"

NAME.

Hello, my name is Alexa Odisley Aguilar Solórzano. I am a passionate and dedicated person who enjoys learning about human behavior and helping others through psychology

ORIGIN.

I am originally from Comitán de Domínguez, a beautiful place in the state of Chiapas, Mexico. However, I currently live in Canada, where I've had the chance to explore new cultures and learn in a diverse environment.

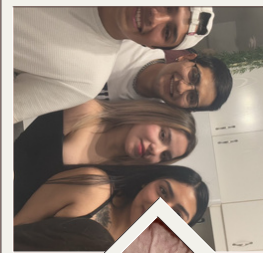

OCCUPATION

I am currently studying psychology online, a field I am deeply passionate about. Additionally, I work in a food packaging factory, where I learn about discipline and organization. I am committed to my personal and professional growth, always striving to improve and evolve.

DESCRIPTION

I am 1.56 meters tall, I have blonde-dyed hair that reflects my vibrant personality, light hazel eyes that change with the light, and fair skin. I consider myself friendly, creative, persistent, and curious. I have a tattoo that represents my three siblings, symbolizing the special bond we share. I enjoy surrounding myself with positive energy and always try to see the bright side of things.

INTERESTS

I love dancing because it allows me to express myself and connect with my joyful and free-spirited side. I also enjoy makeup, not only as a way to enhance beauty but also as a form of expressing my creativity and personal style. Traveling is one of my greatest passions, as each new place teaches me something and enriches my view of the world. Additionally, going to the gym helps me stay active and take care of my physical and mental well-being.
