The teapot house

This, teapot home was built as a reminder of the incidents of corruption around President Warren G. Harding, related to the Wyoming oil reserve, and which were called "The Teapot Dome scandal".

This construction was made with four large rocks, which give shape to rustic building that is located in a picturesque town in the Face Mountains, Portugal.

The Shose House

In Hellam, a municipality in Pennsylvania, United States, a curious shoe-shaped property can be seen. In its original version, it was a royal guest house with 3 bedrooms, two bathrooms, a kitchen and a living room intended for local shoe magnate Mahlon Haines.

In the state of Texas, USA, is the house of acero. The person responsible for this creation was the architect and sculptor Robert Bruno, who took no more and no less than 34 years to build this place, whose appearance gives the impression of being a giant pig.
