

Universidad Del Sur este

Matter :

English II

Student :

Cesia Ovalle Méndez

Degree :

Licenciatura En Nutrición

ING:

Arreola Jimenez Eduardo Enrique

Egg house in Beijing (China)

Chinese architect Dai Haifei was concerned about rising real estate prices in China's capital. Then an egg-shaped house was built on a sidewalk. It works with solar energy. It cost him 964 dollars to build this house.

The Tea House, Washington, USA.

In 1992, the tea house was built in Washington, USA. This tea house was built in memory of the incidents of corruption in the vicinity of President Warren G. Harding, related to the Wyoming oil reserve, and which were called "The done of the teapot scandal." In addition, this original and sarcastic tea house also serves as a gas station.

House upside down" in trassenheide (Germany)

It was built as a tourist attraction by the Polish architects Klaudiusz Góls and Sebastian Mikiciusk as part of the "World upside down" project. It allowed visitors to see the world from a different perspective. Everything in this house, including the furniture, is upside down.

The toilet house" in Suwon (South Korea).

The mayor of Suwon, Sim Jae-Duck, designed this house in the shape of a toilet to honor the foundation of the "World Toilet Organization." The house has a beautiful rooftop balcony that has flags of many countries hoisted there. This house costs more than a million dollars.

Links

https://billiken.lat/interesantel.

https://www.Publico.es/viajes/las-casas-mas-raras-del-mundo.