Simple Present.

Its structures consist in positive, negative and interrogative.

- ⊕ Subject + verb + complement
- ⊖ Subject + Auxiliary + do/does + verb + complement
- ⊙ Auxiliary + do/does + subject + verb + complement

In the positive, the subject He, she, it is added S when it is negative and interrogative when the verb remains the same.

The rules, in third persons of the singular, the verb always ends in S. When verbs end in es. You must add at the end O, Sh, ss, x y z, should be added at the es end.

Past Simple

We use the past tense form to talk about Actions that happened, actions that occurred in the past.

To use structure in the verb, the positive
All subjects take the form past (V2) in the verb.

In the negative structure.

Subject + V2
pronoun

The interrogative structure uses the did before the subject, verb.
