and

firefighter.

sentences with superlatives

1. The police officer has the highest salary among the two professions.
2. Firefighting is the most dangerous job because of the risks involved in battling fires.
3. The role of a police officer is the most challenging when it comes to dealing with criminal situations.

final explanation

I prefer firefighters over police officers for several reasons. First, I find putting out fires interesting since I get to save lives and protect people during emergencies. Although police officers earn higher salaries, firefighters usually work shifts which allows them more free time. Lastly, being part of a team that responds to dangerous situations is interesting to me, which is why I am more interested in firefighters.
