

Inglés

Comparando opciones

Profe: Maria Fernanda Monserrath Campos Roman

Alumna: Carolina Escogido

Profesiones Elegidas:

• Doctor vs. Architect

Análisis y Comparación:

- 1. Being a doctor is more stressful than being an architect.
- 2. A doctor earns a higher salary than an architect.
- 3. Being a doctor is more difficult than being an architect, due to the high responsibility and pressure involved in medical decisions.
- 4. An architect has more flexible working hours than a doctor.

5. Being an architect is less physically demanding than being a doctor.

Oraciones con Superlativos:

1. The most rewarding profession is being a doctor, as it directly impacts people's health and lives.

2. The least physically demanding job is being an architect.

3. The most challenging profession is being a doctor, due to the constant pressure and life-or-death decisions.

Explicación Final:

I would prefer to be an architect over a doctor. Although being a doctor is a very rewarding profession, it is also extremely stressful and comes with long working hours, especially in emergency situations. An architect, while still challenging, has more control over working hours and can work on creative and long-term projects. I value having a better work-life balance and the opportunity to work on diverse and innovative designs. Additionally, being an architect is less physically demanding than being a doctor, which is another reason why I would choose this profession.