Well, the house of my dreams would be in a secluded place in the city with more green areas, it would be a large room with a high ceiling in the shape of a brown triangle like natural wood, a table made of a log to make it more natural. , some sliding windows to go to the patio with a view of the forest and that has a pool behind the patio, the rooms on the second floor would be spacious with a large window in the front to be able to see the sunrise in the morning and to be able to go downstairs and climb some stairs in the center spiral and have an open space next to the house so my pets can run.
