I imagine the house of my dreams like this, with a large pool the house would also have to be two floors, have a large kitchen, a large living room and the house would be painted blue and white, also have an outside dining room for on the weekends, having a happy time with my family and enjoying the pool, having them in the yard , playing with them , and being able to have a garden full of roses where there are also kittens ,having a room to have my cats a special space for them having a large television in the house, some armchairs, having games to entertain myself on the weekends having pictures of dogs and cats stuck on the wall.
