BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD

It was October 20th, 2003. It was a Friday night around 8:00 pm. An ambulance came to my house to take my wife to the hospital, my first born was on her way!.

I was 20 years old, she is my first born, and she was named Angie, a beautiful princess. Since she was born, she went through some complications, with the help and support from the doctors, she overcame all the adversities. She became happier, and healthier every day as she was progressing.

Angie was 7 years old when her parents got divorced, she learned how to guide and help her siblings, but she was not alone she had her dad and her grandmother to help her.

Angie finished kindergarten, Elementary School, High School and now, she is in Law school having good grades and being a good student.

Angie is a great daughter, granddaughter, niece and a great big sister, she has three younger brothers named Ashlee, Andrew and Diego. They see her as a great example, a strong person and very humble.

She likes to play football, listening to music, reading books, watching movies, swimming and running.

I love you all so much, and I hope to be a great example for each all of them.

They are so different, each one has its own special quality.
