Juan el niño trabajador

When he was 10 years old, Juan lived in a small village in the countryside. He studied at a public school and was always struggling to keep up with his studies. While he was studying, his family worked in the fields to earn money. One day, his father got sick and couldn't work. Juan had to stop studying to help his family.

But Juan didn't give up. He kept studying in secret while working in the fields. His teacher noticed that Juan wasn't in school and went to visit him at home. She offered to help him study at home.

Thanks to his teacher's help, Juan was able to keep studying and finish primary school. Then, he went to the city to study in secondary school.
