Hi, my name is Diego, today I will tell you how I was champion with my soccer team "Gladiators", a team that we founded with my best friend Toño and that we integrated with pure friends, over time many have left and many have arrived, the important thing is that we are a family.

It all started in the final, my team called "Gladiators" was facing "Gorillas." It was a great final, full of exciting moments. We were starting to win from the first minutes, and by the time the break came, we were talking about how well we were doing. However, when the second half started, they tied the game. Meanwhile, the crowd was getting excited about the great match, my girlfriend was screaming out of nerves, and the rival team's fans were nervously biting their nails. It wasn't until the last minutes that I appeared. I was taking on two opponents and scored the goal that gave us the lead. Then, with my butt, I was blocking the goalkeeper's shot and scored another goal, which was the final one to give us the victory and lift the tournament cup. All my teammates were getting very happy, and we went out to party to celebrate.

From this tournament with my friends, I learned many things. The most important thing was to have fun and enjoy every moment we had together, to value every moment, and not to take anything for granted. We understood the importance of teamwork. Now more than ever, I understand that you should take advantage of every moment because when you least expect it, you're no longer in the same city to play, and now you visit them once a month.
