Yesterday, I was studying for my English exam. My friend called me on the phone and asked me if I wanted to go to the movies with him. I was studying, but I decided to go to the movies anyway. While I was studying, my sister was cooking dinner in the kitchen. She was making her famous chicken stew, which was always a hit in the family. When Juan arrived home from school he was already finishing his studies. He was wearing a new shirt that he had bought that morning. We went to the cinema and watched an action movie. While we were at the movies my sister was serving dinner to our parents. She was setting the table and getting everything ready so our family could enjoy dinner together. After the movie, Juan and I went to a cafe to have coffee and talk about the movie. We were talking and laughing when my sister called us on the phone to tell us that dinner was ready. We went home and sat at the table to enjoy the delicious dinner my sister had prepared. We were eating and talking when our parents asked us about our day. We told them about the movie and dinner and they laughed and told us they were so glad we had had a good day. After dinner, we went to our rooms to rest and prepare for the next day.
