Last Friday I was dancing with some friends at a party, Marcos drank a lot of alcohol and María felt sad because she was very drunk and it was just the beginning of the party, a few minutes later mom called me and told me that my brother was there. arriving. to the bus station, and that I have to take him home, then I protest because I was having a lot of fun, we were fighting on the phone, after I decided to take my brother home.

When I left the party, Marcos just called me and told me that the police would take María and he ran away from there. When I got home with my brother, I told the situation to my mother, then I realized that if I didn't If I had obeyed my mom, I could have been arrested too.

The good thing is that I had gone to look for my brother, after a while we all got together again to go to a party but we ended up going to the beach so there we were having fun in a calmer way, since I had not had the rest because we didn't want to repeat what was the last time
