INTRODUCCION

The text summarizes a little about what my last weekend was like.

Write how it started and how it ended.

In the same way I wrote down the activities I did the previous weekend

I also wrote about the activities my mother did, I wrote things about school.

Last weekend I got up at 6:00, I changed to go to university, I had breakfast at 7:00, then I went to my aunt's house so my cousin and I could go to school.

We arrived at school and the first class I had was behavioral analysis while I was writing the teacher explained. Later I went out for recess and after the recess I had statistics classes while I wrote the teacher explained and as my last class I had English class. I took the bus to return to my house, the bus left me a few streets before my house and I walked to get there.

A few minutes after I got home I ate, later while I was bathing my mom was getting ready, because we were going to a wedding. When we arrived at the wedding we witnessed the sermon, later they gave us dinner, I had dinner and then I went dancing with a friend, I returned home at 12:00, I went to bed at 1:00

The next day I woke up at 8:00, a few minutes later I had breakfast, then I did my homework, while my sister also did her schoolwork, while my mom did housework. Afterwards I took a bath, later I went to my grandparents' house and ate, I talked with my cousins, later I went shopping, I returned home before 8:00 and fed my dogs dinner. I had dinner around 9:00, I changed my clothes and went to bed, I watched a little television and then I went to sleep.

Conclusión

It was something very nice, it's something I don't experience every weekend.

The impact that the event had on me was that I met new people and I had fun with some of the people I met.
