My first time in a concert.

It all started when I found out that one of my favorite artists was coming to give a concert in San Cristobal, I thought I could go, it would be my first time, I was very nervous, I had never been to any, let alone my favorite artist, this It was Monday, December 9.

Nervous, I bought my ticket, reserved my Airbnb, I was counting the days until the concert would arrive, fortunately, the wait was over, and I was already traveling to San Cristobal

I arrived at my Airbnb, I got ready to go to the concert, I formed a long line, several artists passed by before the main one, until finally at 1:30 am the main one came out, it was a beautiful experience for me

It was a two hours of concert, I sang many songs, except my favorite, even so it was something exciting and nice to see, I didn't believe it, I was just a few meters from my favorite artist

It was an unforgettable experience, it is something I would do again, and it seemed like the perfect occasion to tell it.
